

WALK WHITSTABLE'S HISTORY

WHAT IS THE WALK?

As part of Harbour Day 2017, we created a guided walk to help small groups discover the maritime history of Whitstable's harbour and shore line.

But that wasn't enough! We wanted to make sure that everyone has a chance to delve deeper into Whitstable's History beyond Harbour Day and created this self-guided walk.

To do the self-guided walk, you just need this leaflet and a mobile device that is able to visit our website and can scan QR codes (or just tap the code on the PDF).

For the best experience we recommend starting at THEHORSEBRIDGE and once you have worked through the 12 stop points you can meander to the Harbour using back streets or taking in the sights of the High Street. There are plenty of places to stop along the way, so there's no need to rush!

The walk will lead you to some of the hidden places, explaining how the names and places in today's Whitstable connect directly with the family and working lives of earlier maritime generations. Be prepared for some surprises!

The history behind the walks is the herculean effort of 'resident historians' - Dr. Martin Watts of Christchurch University, Canterbury and Mr. Brian Baker who lives here in the town.

THE BIGGER PROJECT

The Harbour Day walks are a pilot for a more ambitious project by the Whitstable Maritime Trust to create a much longer, GPS guided, Maritime Walk from Whitstable along the coast to Faversham. People will be able to use their phones or tablets to access photos, voices, images and maps about a whole range of topics bird life, the environment, sea defences, oysters and fishing, boats and boat building, the wars and military history and more. It would be very helpful if you would let us know what information you would like to access on walk as well as any other ideas you may have. If you would like to help then please follow contact us via www.whitstablemaritime.co.uk/contactus

WHITSTABLE MARITIME

Whitstable Maritime is a charity that aims to maintain and strengthen the town's economy by building on its maritime traditions and crafts. Through the restoration of historic vessels, providing active learning opportunities for all, on and off shore, and by the application of new technologies, it will enable residents, visitors, schoolchildren and students to explore the town's connection with the sea, past, present and future.

Amongst its many projects is developing a maritime coastal walk between Whitstable and Faversham that will use GPS to make a wide range of maritime information – boats, birds, fishing, history, the environment, coastal erosion and the like - available to walkers.

WHO IS IT FOR?

Everyone! The walk is fairly accessible and we have tried to identify where steps and narrow passage are involved.

HOW TO USE THIS GUIDE

Just get yourself to THEHORSEBRIDGE and you can start! We have marked out a route but you need not follow it - you can access the information from the QR codes in whatever order is best for you. At each of the position marked on the map you should see an Oyster Walk QR code. Scan it with your phone and you will be taken to the information for that place. If the QR code can't be seen just use the QR codes printed in this guide.

If you can't access the internet when you are out and about, you can always find out about the walk and its maritime history before - or after - you walk.
